About myhotels group

In March of 1999 the doors to myhotel Bloomsbury opened - combining the style, culture and technological drive of the west with the observant, graceful, and respectful service standards of the east. In November 2002, myhotel Chelsea opened, receiving the plaudits it truly deserved it earned its place among the hippest hotels of the world. In early March of 2008, myhotel Brighton - a place where digital pop culture met spirituality, myhotel Brighton proved truly inspirational. Designers such as Conran, Project Orange and Karim Rashid can all say they have influenced the style and physical appearance of the myhotels group brand.
